
Affiliation and Dedication

Affiliation

Authors must indicate their institutional affiliation with the faculty in the language of the publication for all works produced during a working or study relationship with Charles University. For languages that are less common, it is advisable to also provide the affiliation in English.

The prescribed form of affiliation is governed by the Appendix to Rector's Directive No. 40/2021, Registration of creative activities, projects and employees' mobility at Charles University, as amended by OP 26/2023.

The affiliation takes the following prescribed format:

- English: Charles University, Faculty of Humanities
- Czech: Univerzita Karlova, Fakulta humanitních studií
- English: Charles Univ, Fac Human
- Czech: FHS UK

The affiliation can be supplemented with the address of the faculty:

- English: Charles University, Faculty of Humanities, Pátkova 2137/5, Prague 8 – Libeň, 182 00, Czech Republic
- Czech: Univerzita Karlova, Fakulta humanitních studií, Pátkova 2137/5, Praha 8 – Libeň, 182 00, Česká republika

In academic journals, the author's affiliation is considered, but the formatting can vary significantly.

In monographs, the author's affiliation is typically not included with their name but should be presented in their profile or bibliography.

For chapters in collective monographs, it is generally unnecessary to include the author's affiliation alongside their name. However, it is advisable to include this information in a footnote on the first page of the chapter or at the end of the article.
